

Born in Casablanca, Morocco, 1977.
Lives and works in Rabat.

It was during his studies in Graphic Design, which brought him to Germany, France, Switzerland and the United States, that he became passionate about photography. From then on, he never left his camera and followed solid studies and training in photography at the Institute of Photography in Manchester and in New York. Fouad Maazouz is an award winning and a certified international professional photographer and has received several international awards.